Q1- Crowds Crowds can be seen at shopping centres, train stations, sports events, rallies and festivals. 'The Derby Day' by William Powell Frith, 'Free Speech' by Grace Golden and 'Music in the Tuileries' by Édouard Manet all show crowds at an event. LS Lowry painted groups of people going to work and a football match. Lisa Larsen photographed crowds at political rallies. Lubaina Himid fills galleries with her installations of cut out figures that explore her cultural heritage and Raymond Mason's sculptures include tightly packed crowds of people.
