D) Explain how beliefs about the afterlife could affect a Christian's moral behaviour.

TASK: complete the D) part activity.

TIME LIMIT: 15 Minutes

GROUP WORK.

End of Life

12. People have beliefs about the afterlife that affect a Christian's moral behavior.

List the Christian beliefs about the afterlife here.

HINT: Try to refer to a final moral reward and final judgment. Interpretations of heaven, hell and purgatory. Also, try to list biblical verses that have guided or guided you.

List some examples of moral and immoral behaviors.

HINT: use your Bible to help you.

MORAL

IMMORAL

Example: The Bible teaches...

Christian beliefs...	That humans have an immortal soul
The Bible says...		Even the righteous will suffer because of their sin. "For the wages of sin is death." (1 Corinthians 15:55)
As a result the world...			Christians have helped the environment.

End of Life

13. We only have one life and it is here on earth.

- Complete the 8) game on this page.
- Try to use an idea from (a) or (b), as examples (a) and (b), plus your own (this is best way...) and try to explain your own point of view about what you just wrote.
- For the most part, be successful. You should not be able to find a real world belief that is less or the other side.

There are many different views about life after death and the Bible. Some people's views are based on what is believed in the Bible and some are not.

Some people, such as the Bible, believe in the afterlife. This can be seen in the Bible's teaching that says there is a reward for good (life) and a punishment for bad (hell). This means that material things like cars and money are not the most important things for the Bible and that there is a soul. They might believe this because there is no other evidence for the immaterial soul. Some people believe that the Bible is just a collection of stories that are not true and they will agree with the Bible that there is no soul and that it is here on earth. They usually agree with the material view because they think the evidence for the material view is stronger. For example, the Bible says that the soul is immortal and that the Bible says that the soul is immortal through scientific means when the Bible says otherwise.
